Effective Date: July 1, 2012.

Explanation of State Expenditures: Obsolete Programs: According to the Department, the 19 programs listed for elimination have had no staff or activity associated with the programs for the last few years. The elimination of the programs should have no fiscal impact.

(Revised) ISTEP Test: Currently, the state must allow each student or the student's parent to inspect the following:

1. A copy of the essay questions and prompts used in assessing the student.
2. A copy of the student's scored essays.
3. A copy of the anchor papers and scoring rubrics used to score the student's essays.

The parent can also currently request a rescoring of the test.

Eliminating these options to review the test should reduce the cost of administering the test. When test questions and the rubrics associated with the questions are made public, the questions can not be used for several years, so more new questions must be developed each year. It is currently unknown how much might be saved if fewer new questions have to be developed annually. Allowing a school to request a rescoring only if there is evidence that the test score is not accurate should reduce some costs.

(Revised) Teacher of the Year: Replacing the Ambassador for Education Program with provisions which allow a Teacher of the Year to serve one year of professional leave with the Department of Education or a postsecondary educational institution should have no additional fiscal impact.

Explanation of State Revenues:
